6. [redacted] Met with William Darden, Staff of Senate Armed Services Committee, and discussed with him the possibility of a briefing of our combined Armed Services and Appropriations Subcommittees during the week of 23 July. I suggested the specific dates of 23, 24 and 27 July. Darden said Senator Russell seldom focused on these things very far in advance but said he would take the matter up with the Chairman and let us know as soon as he received an indication of his feelings.

7. [redacted] In the absence of Robert Smart, who is attending a two-week seminar, I spoke to his secretary, Mrs. Stockstill, about the possibility of briefing our Armed Services Committee during the week of 23 July. She indicated that Chairman Vinson had a primary late this month and it was possible he might be out of town during this time. She is to check into this and we will discuss it further.
